“AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL”

Lyrics by Katharine Lee Bates

Music by Samuel A. Ward

O beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain,
For purple mountain majesties
Above the fruited plain!
America! America!
God shed His grace on thee
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea!

O beautiful for pilgrim feet
Whose stern impassioned stress
A thoroughfare of freedom beat
Across the wilderness!
America! America!
God mend thine every flaw,
Confirm thy soul in self-control,
Thy liberty in law!

THE POMP BEHIND THE CIRCUMSTANCE

Ceremonial Symbols

GONFALONS

A gonfalon is a banner suspended from a crossbar that bears a school's name and university seal. The name dates back to medieval times in Florence, Italy, where each neighborhood was represented at a town meeting, known as a “confalone,” by its own flag, which displayed a unique coat of arms. Eventually, the word “confalone” became associated with the flag itself. Gonfalons were later used to identify households, fighting units, or offices. Religious communities used them to represent holy symbols during processions. During the Renaissance and Enlightenment periods, gonfalons gained popularity at educational institutions to symbolize different schools and disciplines within an institution. Each college within the University of New England is represented today by its own gonfalon, carried by a student, known as a “gonfalonier,” who leads their college in the processional.

THE GOWN

The history of the academic gown goes back to the 12th century. During this period everyone — both men and women, royalty, lay folk, clerics, tradesmen, students — wore long flowing robes. The apparel varied in elegance according to the rank and wealth of the owner, from simple rough worsteds to rich gold brocades wrought with tassels and trimmed with colorful velvet and rich furs. It was in this period that the first organized bodies of learning were formed. From the gowns worn in the “universities” of the period have evolved the academic costumes of today.

The bachelor's gown is of simple design falling straight from a rather elaborate yoke with long pointed sleeves. The gown worn by a master has long, closed, somewhat fuller sleeves, which reach nearly to the wearer's knees. The arms go through slits at the elbow, giving the appearance of short sleeves. The doctoral gown is cut much fuller and has large bell-shaped sleeves. The gowns are usually, but not always, black, and those of bachelors and masters are generally devoid of ornamentation. The doctoral gowns are distinguished by the five-inch velvet panel around the neck and down both sides of the front, as well as three-inch velvet bars sewn on each sleeve.

The color of the velvet trim may be black or may indicate the nature of the degree of the wearer. For example, the color designating a Doctor of Philosophy is dark blue; a Doctor of Medicine, green; a Doctor of Education, light blue; a Doctor of Science, golden yellow; a Doctor of Humanities, white; a Doctor of Law, purple.

THE HOOD

The hood seems to have had a somewhat practical origin. Medieval monks used their hood for two purposes: to protect their shaved heads in the winter and as containers in which to collect alms.

Today the hood serves as the most symbolic part of the academic regalia by which the observer can ascertain the level and kind of degree. At three feet long, the bachelor's hood is the smallest. The velvet trim along the edges, indicating the nature of the degree, is two inches wide. The master's hood is three feet, six inches long and has a three-inch velvet trim. The doctor's hood is four feet long, has a five-inch wide trim, and is further distinguished by panels at the sides. The colorful interior of the hoods, visible from behind, indicates by hue the degree-granting institution.

Look for the following hoods today: Master of Public Health (salmon), Master of Science in Applied Nutrition (gold), Master of Science in Athletic Training (sage), Master of Science in Education (light blue), Master of Science in Health Informatics (gold), Master of Science in Nurse Anesthesia (navy blue), Master of Health Care Administration (drab), Master of Occupational Therapy (gold), Master of Science in Biological Sciences (goldenrod), Master of Science in Marine Sciences (goldenrod), Master of Science in Physician Assistant (yellow), Master of Social Work (citron), Doctor of Dental Medicine (lilac), Doctor of Education (light blue), Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine (green), Doctor of Pharmacy (olive), and Doctor of Physical Therapy (teal).

* Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study (post-Master's) in Education signified by a single blue cord.

THE MACE

The University Mace serves as a symbol of authority, just as it did in the Middle Ages when a mace bearer accompanied an official taking office or opening court. From the 16th century in England and since colonial days in America, it has become a symbol of office used in ceremonies and is carried by the procession leader or mace bearer.

ACADEMIC HONORS

Undergraduate students graduating with academic honors will be recognized for their academic excellence by cords of different colors draped around their necks. Summa cum laude (gold), magna cum laude (blue), cum laude (silver).

The CAS Honors Program provides high-performing students with first-hand exposure to scholarship and research. Students apply to the program and then complete and publicly defend a research-based honors thesis. They will be recognized by a solid red cord.

MILITARY SERVICE HONORS

The University is proud to recognize students serving or who have served in the various military branches of the United States of America. Graduating students currently serving in the U.S. military and veterans will be recognized by red, white, and blue cords.

ELIZABETH A. MCLELLAN

Founder and President, Partners for World Health

Honorary Degree Recipient, Doctor of Humane Letters

Elizabeth A. McLellan is the founder and president of Partners for World Health, which she created in 2007 following an illustrious career in nursing and health care administration. What began as a personal passion project soon grew into an organization that includes more than 800 volunteers and employs more than a dozen people. Based in Portland, Maine, this innovative nonprofit organization collects medical supplies and equipment from health care facilities, manufacturers, other organizations, and individuals. After sorting, evaluating, repackaging, and preparing these materials, they are then distributed to individuals, communities, and health care facilities in need.

Through this work, Partners for World Health limits the impact on the environment by diverting materials from landfills. At the same time, it lowers health care costs by reducing or eliminating disposal fees. And it provides health care resources to those in need. In addition, Partners for World Health aims to improve the health conditions of people and communities around the globe by sending medical personnel on medical missions to the developing world and educating New England communities about global health issues.

McLellan has received numerous awards for her leadership, compassion, and service in the health care field, including the Hanley Center Leadership and Humanitarian Relief Award, the Red Cross Real Hero Award, the Outstanding Non-Profit Award, and the Northeastern University Social Impact Award. She was inducted into the University of New England's prestigious Deborah Morton Society in 2019.
